

Sustainability reporting

2014-06-12

Extracon is a consulting company with engagement in environmental area as well as in area of social responsibility. Extracon started in year 2008. The owner Göran Brohammer has been involved in environmental work since beginning of 1980-ties.

In year 2014 a new EU directive was released demanding companies to annually release a sustainability report. Companies concerned will need to disclose information on policies, risks and outcomes as regards environmental matters, social and employee-related aspects, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and bribery issues, and diversity in their board of directors. In particular, large public-interest entities with more than 500 employees will be required to disclose certain non-financial information in their management report. This includes listed companies as well as some unlisted companies, such as banks, insurance companies, and other companies that are so designated by Member States because of their activities, size or number of employees. The scope includes approx. 6 000 large companies and groups across the EU. In any case sustainability reporting already to day is done also by smaller and not by this directive covered companies, voluntarily.

At Extracon we can support companies in making such a report, and we cooperate with the German company

360Report GmbH. They sell a web based reporting concept, see demo at www.360report.org
